

Seafaring of Red China Touchy Big 3 Problem

PARIS (UP) — Russia and the Big Three western powers fought another round today over whether Red China will sit at Geneva as their equal, making the Asian parley in effect a Big Five conference.

The Russians demanded a new, in notes delivered to Washington, London and Paris yesterday, that the Peiping regime be given equal status with Russia, the United States, Britain and France at Geneva.

As emphatically as in the past the United States, Britain and France replied that Red China would not sit as an equal in that consideration of how to achieve peace in Korea and Indochina.

In their reply note the Western powers said they were united in the view that the agreement reached at the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Berlin last February provide that China was to have only the status of other powers invited by the Big Four to the conference and specifically that the invitation did not amount to recognition of Communist China.

The Russians, it was understood here, pointed to a section of the communiqué which stated: "The problem of restoring peace in Indochina will also be discussed at the conference, to which representatives of the United States, France, the United Kingdom, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the Chinese People's Republic, and other interested states will be invited."

The Russian argument was that this clearly indicated the equality of status of the five powers.

The issue was one of the bitterest likely to develop at the conference, opening Monday, and seemed certain to bring the East and West to a collision.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles is known to be adamant against any action giving equal status to Red China at this time and he and his Western colleagues came to an agreement on this point at their meeting yesterday.

Citrus Rift Between China and Russia

CHICAGO Adm. Robert B. Carney said ditto America's strategy must be flexible enough to meet all possible situations and he mentioned as an example a rift between Russia and her Chinese satellite.

Carney, Navy member of the strategy-making Joint Chiefs of Staff, did not predict this would happen, he posed it only as an example of how national plans and policies must be planned to a variety of possibilities.

Strategy, said Carney, in an address prepared for the Executives Club of Chicago, "is not a static thing, it is an accommodation to circumstances and circumstances are never static... The wise planner will review his basic assumptions often and carefully."

Then the admiral said:

"Can you imagine, for instance the strategic implications if one day Red China's Mao Tse-tung should disassociate himself from the Kremlin? A clean break between Peiping and Moscow obviously would have profound impact on the grand strategy not only of the United States and her allies but on the strategy of the Soviet Union."

"We should never be beguiled into wishful thinking, but, it is pleasant to contemplate that dictators are suspicious critics subject to hates, passions, and prejudices, and not without personal ambitions. History reveals that the personal relationship between Hitler and Mussolini left much to be desired and the personal ambitions of one did not always contribute to the best interests of the other."

TV Appeal of Hearing Is Lagging

By The Associated Press

Public interest in televised sessions of the McCarthy-Army hearings apparently lagged far behind the enthusiasm that crippled business and left household chores undone during the 1951 Kefauver crime hearings.

From city after city, where daily routines were stalled by the crime hearings, came reports that business was normal during the Washington hearings yesterday.

However, television industry officials still figured the audience was vast. It was potentially much greater than the one three years ago because of substantial expansion of TV broadcasting and number of sets since then.

Most reports agreed with one from Providence, R. I., saying yesterday's hearings had nowhere near the popular appeal of the Keauver sessions.

Store owners there reported business was normal and some bars didn't even have the hearings turned on. Where sets were turned on the Washington sessions, there was nothing like the mobs that gathered daily to watch the crime committee.

The strongest reaction was reported in Cleveland, where Euclid Avenue merchants noticed a slackening of business for several hours during the afternoon.

In Dallas, Tex., a supermarket manager said he was aware of no drop in the number of shoppers. Tavern owners said their customers didn't even ask to have TV sets turned on.

In Detroit a department store had a set turned to the hearings but a spot check showed only 14 persons were watching, compared to 100 persons who gathered for a recently televised baseball game.

In Chicago crowds gathered in bars and around display windows of TV stores, but downtown traffic was normal and an average shopping day was reported.

The Boston Globe telephoned TV owners around town and found only 25 to 26 were watching the hearings.

Patrons in one Reno, Nev., horse parlor asked the owner to turn off the hearings. The noise, they said, interfered with concentration on form sheets.

Ladies Clothing Specialist Figures Coming of the 2-Way Stretch Saved 117,263 Whales

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — Items from an oddity almanac:

Ladies will always have problems, but one problem the 20th century took from them was the tasks of lacing up the old-fashioned corset.

Robert E. Heyn, a brassiere manufacturer, who has been doing some research on this topic, estimates that since the two-day stretch undergarment replaced the corset some 117,263 whales have been spared. He also figures enough structural steel has been salvaged to erect another empire state building and provide every 8-year-old child in America with a roller skate.

The brassiere, incidentally, preceded the corset. It was developed by the ladies of Crete and Minoa to build these corsets for pharaohs. Continued on Page Three

More than 50 producers, handlers, and processors attended the area fruit and vegetable marketing clinic yesterday in Hope. Sponsors of the meeting were: The Arkansas Agricultural Extension Service, the Arkansas Chain Stores Council and the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation. The many means for winning favor for the market basket were discussed by area, state and local leaders in the industry.

Trends that all segments of the fruit and vegetable industry need to keep up with can be observed in any food Supermarket. Every product completes with several other products for a place in the market basket. One can hardly tell the season of the year in the modern market center except for the absence of some fresh products like strawberries and peaches.

Changes in eating habits account for an increasing consumption of fruits and vegetables but not so many potatoes, watermelons and cantalopes. The sweet potato consumption is now about 7 pounds per person compared to an annual use of about 22 pounds average for the period 1935-1939.

In discussing Arkansas crops on the Kansas City Market, Coy McNabb, Marketing Economist of the Extension Service, Kansas City, said that in the volume of business Arkansas products ranked ninth. A large percentage of fruits and vegetables come from California and other western states as they control production moisture with irrigation. The top quality products are paid for accordingly.

Early slicer cucumbers get in very well on the Kansas City Market. Watermelon quality from our area is exceptionally good but would like volume of sized melons. The Kansas produce buyers want Number 1 peaches only and would like to secure them from producers who are doing the production job complete as recommended by the Experiment Stations.

In discussing cantalopes, Mr. McNabb cited an example of a buyer for 88 stores who declared size, package and quality had to be just right. This buyer just could not handle the bulk produce that arrived on the market. The bulk cantalopes need to reach a cheaper market with fewer sellers. Mr. McNabb said that some of the same factors applied to watermelons.

Packaging and retailing fruits and vegetables was discussed and demonstrated by W. L. Myers, Branch Manager, The Kroger Company, Little Rock. Mr. Myers said his organization handled 88 items of packaged fresh and frozen fruits and vegetables plus specialty items which did not include sea foods, meats and ice cream. In 1945 fresh fruits and vegetables accounted to 19 per cent of the total business of the foods organization represented by Mr. Myers while in 1953 the fresh business volume was only 10 per cent. The frozen foods are increasing rapidly and are expected to represent 15 percent of the food supply. Mr. Myers asked how we or how can we fit in to the scheme of present day food supply. The grower and retailer both want volume and the consumer buyer wants convenience.

Teamwork between producers buyers and retailers is essential declared East Texas Extension Marketing Specialist J. F. Rostroff of Tyler. Where volume of a quality product exists the buyer will come pack out the product. An organization that gets together at least once per month all year is very important. The people who are together a lot have a great opportunity. This applies to the growers, buyers and others. This principle applies to watermelon producers, tomato producers, sweet potato producers, or any group if the uniform quality product is to find the reception desired by the consumer.

Reports from Dien Bien Phu said the Communist IndoChinese rebels had sent assault spearheads to a distance less than 2,000 feet from the heart of the bastion.

The double-decked, bus-like Globemasters made a 3,000-mile run around India after Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru had refused to permit them to fly over the subcontinent.

Reports from Colombo, Ceylon said Burma also had refused landing rights to the American planes.

The planes were believed to have flown from France by way of Dharam in Saudi Arabia, Karachi in Pakistan, Colombo and Thailand, although the route was not announced officially.

The unprecedented airlift was undertaken in a race against time to save the beleaguered fortress in northwest Viet Nam which has been under rebel assault for 42 days.

In violent hand-to-hand combat last night, Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's forces again isolated French stronghold in the northwest corner of the Dien Bien Phu airfield and Red 'mole men' removed trenches and burrows almost half way down the trip.

The French high command warned that Communist pressure on an isolated outpost northwest of the Dien Bien Phu defenses was 'increasing hourly.'

From their present trenches on the airstrip, the rebels were in position to cover the shrunken drop zone on the extreme southern end of the main airstrip by automatic weapons.

Insurance Rate Not Excessive — Combs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. John Cloer has been assured by State Insurance Commissioner Harvey Combs that when Arkansas is entitled to a reduction in fire insurance rates 'some' will be ordered.

Cloer, in a series of letters, has asked for an immediate 25 per cent reduction in fire insurance rates in the state.

He claims companies made a 15-20 per cent profit during the period 1948-52, and that the rate cut still would leave them with a legal profit.

In a letter published in the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville, Combs said:

Edwin W. Kilbourne

A Missionary, recently returned from war ravaged Korea, will be guest speaker at First Methodist Church here Sunday. The Rev. Edwin W. Kilbourne will speak at 10:55 a. m. service.

Planes Taking Troops to French Fort

HANOI, Indochina (UP) — Giant U. S. C-124 Globemasters, loaded with capacity for outnumbered troops at Dien Bien Phu, began arriving at Saigon today on an airlift that began half-way across the world.

The first of the big planes touched down on a steel-mesh runway and taxied to a high screen where each unloaded some 200 paratroopers and fighting equipment.

They will be rushed as fast as French transport planes can be made available to Dien Bien Phu where French Union defenders were fighting with Communist rebels in the center of the main airfield.

Statue Department officials, meanwhile disclosed that an official U. S. request for permission for the Indochina flights to cross India had been turned down before Nehru made his public statement Wednesday night. They said this enabled prior arrangements to be made for a 3,000-mile detour of the flight.

The airlift which started in Paris only four days ago, was the longest in military history. By using double shifts of American crews, the pilots stopped only for refueling.

Reports from Dien Bien Phu said the Communist IndoChinese rebels had sent assault spearheads to a distance less than 2,000 feet from the heart of the bastion.

The double-decked, bus-like Globemasters made a 3,000-mile run around India after Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru had refused to permit them to fly over the subcontinent.

Firemen Called to Two Blazes

Two runs were made by the Hope Fire Department yesterday, one to a residence on Dewey Street and the other to Gunter's old lumber yard.

The Negro residence was badly damaged by the blaze which was going big before its occupant, who was working in a garden, discovered his house was afire. A total loss of furniture and clothing was reported by Firemen, who put out the blaze before the roof and walls collapsed.

Firemen said an old pile of lumber caught fire, possibly from a cigarette or spark, at Gunter's old mill yard but no damage resulted.

On the personal side Miss Nancy Hayes, at Randolph-Macon women's college Lynchburg, Va., has been appointed an orientation Training Group Leader for the 1954-55 session. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Hayes, and Miss Patsy Barnes, who won't be miss much longer, is back at work in the Chamber of Commerce after a three-day illness.

India Bans U. S. Planes But Still to Get Dollar

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration today stood by its request for $104,000,000 in foreign aid to India despite the country's refusal to let U. S. planes fly Indo-China-bound French troops across its territory.

But powerful congressional opposition boiled up to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's addition an amendment to the India aid program for next fiscal year in jeopardy.

Republican leaders angrily assailed the Indian leader on the Senate floor yesterday. Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland compared him to a man who would cut a fire hose strung across his lawn to a burning neighbor's house.

Chairman Styles Bridges (R-NH) of the Senate Appropriations Committee urged the administration to remember India's action when making future recommendations for foreign aid.

But Foreign Aid Chief Harold E. Stassen told a news conference he will continue to support the Indian aid program. He said he and other officials will be prepared to discuss this country's policy toward India when the aid request is presented to Congress.

Stassen said the United States as a free world leader must be able to respect different points of view within the other free nations as to the best means of achieving peace.

Dickinson Gets No Help from GIs

HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army major commanding Capt. Edward S. Dickinson, court-martialled today, he is convinced the GI was a victim of rumors at a Communist-run "camp" in Korea.

Capt. Brown gave this information in an interview with the military, moved into its fifth day, of 2-year-old Dickinson, from the Red Neck Van, is accused of negotiating with his captors and turning on his buddies while a POW. He was one of 23 POWs who refused repatriation. Later, and one other returned to V. S.

Brown, who was legal adviser to Americans at the Freedom Village repatriation center in Korea, said he had heard hundreds of GI talk about wide-area "atmosphere of rumor" at Red prison camps.

Dickinson's defense began hammering away at this point yesterday when a series of witness hosts to Dickinson took the witness

UN Bans Visits to Palace

By LYNN HEINERLING
GENEVA, Switzerland — The United Nations banned all visits to the Palace of Nations today for the duration of the Geneva conference. Movements of personnel within the building were put under strict limitations.

Effective Monday, when the East-West conference is scheduled to open, police and Swiss soldiers will patrol the spacious grounds of the old League of Nations building, now headquarters here of the United Nations. U. N. guards, reinforced by special security agents, will guard the interior. A section of the palace has been sealed off completely. Only conference delegates and members of the conference secretariat will be admitted. Regular U. N. employees will not even be permitted to park their automobiles in their usual space.

Introducing security measures never before known here, Geneva police and U. N. officials have decided that everyone entering the grounds may be asked for identification papers at the entrance and again inside the building.

Fulbright Ashamed of McCarthy

ATLANTA — Sen. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) says he feels "almost" ashamed to be in the Senate with McCarthy.

Youth Charged With Murder of His Mother

MENA (AP) — Raymond Oswald, 19, was charged with first degree murder in the death of his mother yesterday, and after a lie detector test, will be committed to the State Mental Hospital for observation.

Mrs. Anna Oswald's body was found, crumpled into a six-foot unplugged electric refrigerator, at her home near Meha, Wednesday by a deputy sheriff.

She had been dead several days. A preliminary autopsy report by Dr. Anderson Nettleship of Little Rock, state medical examiner, indicated that the 62-year-old widow was alive when she was placed in the refrigerator. He said she probably suffocated.

Oswald is to be tested at Little Rock for veracity in his changing story that he first missed his mother Wednesday morning when he called neighbors to help him search for her.

Sheriff Hobard Hensley said Oswald "has changed his story several times."

The youth was charged by Prosecutor Coker Thomas and committed to the state institution by circuit Judge George Steel.

The body was found by Deputy Sheriff Bobby Allis after he noticed perishable foods stacked on a kitchen table. A coroner's jury said Mrs. Oswald died "by violence, apparently premeditated."

W. M. U. Has Royal Service Program

The monthly Royal Service program of the First Baptist Church was presented on Monday afternoon at the church annex.

After a brief business session conducted by the president, Mrs. Roy Stanton, Circle 3 with Mrs. Harrell Hines in charge, presented the program on "Medical Missions in South America" that was opened with Mrs. Watson White, Jr., playing softly, "The Great Physician."

Mrs. Stanton gave the devotional talk followed with the group singing, "Give of Your Best to the Master."

Mrs. Hines introduced Mrs. Rains, Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. Garrett who were dressed as nurses and represented Brazil, Columbia and Paraguay.

They presented the program in a round table discussion.

The meeting closed with prayer by Miss Lillie Butcher.

Mundt upheld this point.

In the upshot, the committee recessed until 2:30 p. m. (EST) with the understanding that Lucas, the man reported to have made the transcript of the conversation, would be called then to testify as to whether it was full and complete.

Before Mundt ruled on the admissibility of the telephone notes, Stevens had stated that he believed them to be an accurate verbatim report of the conversation, taken in shorthand at the time of the call.

Joseph N. Welch, special Army counsel, said Stevens, in response to a subpoena, had brought the transcription. But Welch demanded that the committee formally vote to order its production. He said there are restrictions under the Federal Communications Act on disclosing monitored phone conversations.

Stevens had been questioned only by Jenkins up to this point. The committee courting is for the counsel to ask the first questions. Then the senators take 10-minute turns.

Jenkins began with the day last February when Stevens took office and went step by step through his first meeting with McCarthy and their later relations.

For the most part, his testimony was a repetition of what he had said in a formal statement yesterday.

He related that McCarthy proposed to him last September, when Schine was about to be drafted that Schine be given a special assignment to dig out Communists in the Army.

Stevens said McCarthy said he thought Schine should be made a special assistant to the secretary or a special assistant in Army intelligence.

This proposition, Stevens said, was made to him in the Walrus Towers apartment of Schine's wealthy parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Myer Schine. He said McCarthy invited him to the apartment.

Effective Monday, when the East-West conference is scheduled to open, police and Swiss soldiers will patrol the spacious grounds of the old League of Nations building, now headquarters here of the United Nations. U. N. guards, reinforced by special security agents, will guard the interior.

McCarthy Billed for Filming

NEW YORK (AP) — A bill for filming Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy television reply to CBS Commentator Edward R. Murrow's criticism of McCarthy's methods has been sent to the senator's Washington office.

A spokesman for Fox Movietone News, which made the film, said yesterday the bill was mailed at the request of Roy Cohn, chief counsel to the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee. Cohn had engaged Fox studios for production of the film.

The film was presented on CBS-TV the night of April 8 in reply to Murrow's criticism of McCarthy last month. Murrow had invited McCarthy to appear in rebuttal last month. The senator elected McCarthy to appear in rebuttal if he chose. The senator elected to put his answer on a 25-minute film.

Introducing security measures never before known here, Geneva police and U. N. officials have decided that everyone entering the grounds may be asked for identification papers at the entrance and again inside the building.

nel discussion led by L. C. Baber, Managing Director of the Arkansas Chain Stores Council was a feature. Four segments of the industry were included as members of the panel. Bob McClure, Nashville produce buyer, said that better products properly packaged was very necessary and must receive our consideration. Cecil Little, Director in Charge of the University of Arkansas Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station, said that a quality 10 to 15 pound melon for the early and regular season was needed for family market and that the research program of the station had such a melon to offer soon.

B. A. Tidwell of Hope, a commercial vegetable crop producer, stated adequate water was necessary in the production of quality products in our area and cited an example of the production of quality slicer cucumber last summer for market in the area through the use of irrigation. H. T. Baber of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation, a commercial vegetable crop producer, market in the area through the use of irrigation. H. T. Baber of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation stated that additional research and education was necessary in the solving of the many problems mentioned during the meeting and that farmers had such an expanded program now before Congress and other leaders. Such research needed was suggested to include bacterial leaf spot control on peaches, watermelon diseases, new varieties, timely market news service, and marketing practices.

Sophisticated people don't always have sophisticated palates . . . The Ritz Restaurant, now in the Carlton House, has been a rendezvous point for gourmets for decades . . . But Charles Silvani, the maître de hotel, says that of its hundreds of menu items these are the most popular . . . roast beef, boiled beef, corn beef hash, chicken hash, apple pie and vanilla ice cream . . . They also were the most popular back before the first world war . . .

Do you let a minor handicap get you down? Think of Ludwig von Beethoven and quit feeling sorry for yourself. Most people know that Beethoven composed much of his immortal music after he was deaf, but do you know how he did it? He held a wooden stick in his teeth and pressed it against the keyboard of his piano. The sound vibrations carried through his teeth to the bones of his skull and thence to his inner ear . . .

Almanac long-range weather forecast. A hot air wave centering in Washington, will extend over the rest of the country for the next few months, abating with the adjournment of Congress.

The commissioner said he had received complaints from residents about being called "at all times of the day and even late at night."

DOROTHY DIX

His Old Sweetheart

Dear Miss Dix: Do men always carry fond memories of former sweethearts? We have been married a bit over a year and have a two-month-old baby, yet Jerry still hasn't forgotten the girl who jilted him several years ago. He is forever mentioning her name (at least once a week), talks about what they did together, and almost breaks his neck to say "Hello" to her when they meet in town. She's married, too, and has four children.

Could he possibly love me, or is he still carrying a torch for her? I'm torn to pieces by this and, although I've asked him to stop talking about her, he still does. However, if I mention one of my former beaux, he gets very angry. If I happen to meet one and we pass a casual greeting, Jerry says I'm flirting. How can I make him realize the seriousness of the situation without having him think I'm jealous?

D. W. Answer: With jealousy sticking out all over like the quills of a porcupine, you certainly would have some job convincing Jerry that you aren't a victim of the green-eyed monster. You have some justification, sure, but don't let it show so glaringly. Every wife would love to see her husband's ex-dates exiled to Siberia. But alas, they go right on living often in the same town. So what can you do but be sensible about it? After all, your particular nemesis is married, and certainly has no designs on your man.

Mentioning a girl's name once a week isn't exactly "forever," and greeting the girl on the street is a mere matter of courtesy. You are keeping the topic alive rather than Jerry. You've got to learn to ignore it, figuring out the best way to do so is your present problem. When Jerry brings up the girl's name, counter with a remark about an old beau of yours. Meet Jerry's irritation by saying that as much time should be given to your past as to his. Or, leave the room with the observation that you've heard just about all you can stand concerning the young lady. Of best defense of all, bring up the subject yourself occasionally. If you meet her in town, be pleasant, then regale Jerry with a description of the girl, her children, your conversation and any other odds and ends. Possibly Jerry still feels hurt as he recalls the jilting, but he'll recover in time.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a woman of 38, and have been married for five years to a man who had been married something new added to the book of etiquette. To the best of my knowledge, an engagement doesn't require qualifications of formal distinction, but it exists as an engagement or it doesn't exist. You are apparently one of casual attachment in the event of still finding one else comes along. Would it be better if you formally break off the informal arrangement and end it as you wish?

Tuesday, April 20, forty-one seniors along with their sponsor, Mrs. N. R. Yerger and coach Britto, spent the day at Howard County Training School in Tollette, Arkansas, for Carter Day activities. Coach Britto served as a consultant in physical education. Approximately 350 seniors attended from various schools in this area.

On April 23 the senior class will attend "Senior Day" at A. M. & N. College, Pine Bluff, Arkansas. This is an annual affair at which the faculty, personnel and students of the college play host to hundreds of seniors from High Schools all over the State.

After the baking the ladies held their regular meeting with Mrs. Janie Wilson presiding. Prayer service by Mrs. Wade, and the scripture - was read by Mrs. Tyree. The roll call and response with each club member telling "How I can improve my sewing ability." Discussion on a quilt was held by the group and plans were made by Mrs. Alcola Wade.

Prof. R. H. Jacques helped to sample the food and Mrs. Alcola Wade won the prize. A cook book was presented to her by president Mrs. J. A. Wilson.

Mrs. Ollie B. Wyly died Thursday, April 22, 4:40 p.m. at her home, 907 Hickory Street. She is survived by her husband John Wyly daughter Mrs. Fannie Cole of Niagara Falls, N. Y., and granddaughter Glen Davis Green of Hope, three brothers and two sisters. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Drops Dry Ice to Flood Red Supply Road

HANOI, Indochina (UPI) — French pilots, adopting America's rain-making measures, seeded dry ice today in heavy clouds over Communist supply route in the Dien Bien Phu area, French military sources reported.

The desperate tactic was aimed at turning mud roads that lead from the border of Red China to Communist Indochinese forces encircling the fortress.

The monsoon season itself was expected shortly in Indochina. If French Union forces can hold against the creeping Communists, the summer rainstorms might washout Red military operations against Dien Bien Phu.

French high command spokesmen announced that the Communists have been bearing down hard on the fortress's shrunken defenses.

Dien Bien Phu's defenders, awaiting reinforcements, are being driven from Paris by U. S. pilots, fired machine gun and tank cannon on rebels creeping forward on the bastion's main runway.

for the Annual Dress Revue to be held on April 24 were some of the new matters to remember.

"I Am The Door"

— AND NO MAN COMETH TO THE FATHER BUT BY ME." Friend, that's Jesus talking.
 You can't go over it, nor under it, nor around it. If you would have comradeship with God,
 YOU MUST COME IN AT THE DOOR. God offers life to all but he has definite qualifying requirements for us. Your church invites you. The door to God's heart is wide enough to include you. He wants you to knock...the door will open.
